Robert Edmondson, 33, 432 West Twelfth street died in City hospital last Monday from skull fracture, alleged to have been caused by a blow on the head with a club wielded by R. D. Douglas, 2415 Massachusetts avenue.

Edmondson was struck on August 5, and at that time Douglas was slated at city prison on a charge of assault and battery, but was dismissed in police court when it was disclosed that Edmondson had been abusive to the mother of his child, Ethel Meyers, 2515 Massachusetts avenue. Edmondson then chased Douglas around the yard with an open knife.

Douglas is being held at the county jail on the charge of murder pending the outcome of the coroner's verdict.

WOUNDS FOUR OF MOB BENT ON LYNCHING

Savage Rioting Follows When Colored Protect Themselves From Berserk Whites.

TROOPS KEEP PEACE

ANNISTON, Ala., Aug. 12.—(By Special Correspondence)—

Patrolling all highways following the bloody rioting in which four members of a posse were shot by a colored man, all peace officers were reported as making every effort to apprehend the man, accused of an attempted kidnapping of a two months old infant to prevent lynching. The man is said to have been attacked by the mother with a hammer when she discovered him at the child's crib.

The battle here Monday night was the latest outbreak in Anniston where relations between whites and colored have been strained for several weeks following the arrest of Roosevelt Collins, colored, for an alleged attack upon Mrs. Joel Hill, white woman. Nat'l guardsmen were used then to patrol the street to maintain order and numerous arrests were made of both whites and colored.

The wounded were: Pat Hicks, back shot wounds in back, condition serious; W. A. Hicks, shot in knee; Forney Martin, shot in face.

The fourth man wounded was not identified. He did not go to the hospital for treatment.

The wounded were members of the posse seeking the man.

OLYMPIC FEATS EXAMPLE FOR SOUTHERNERS

CINCINNATI, Aug. 12.—(By James T. Whitney for ANP)—Victories of American Negroes at the Olympics at Berlin, all of them representing Northern or Western states, should be a matter of serious concern to Dixie, which, despite its great colored population, has produced few first-class Negro athletes, said Dr. Howard W. Johnson, Howard university president, to the two hundred dentists at a public meeting of the National Dental association at Union Baptist church, Thursday night.

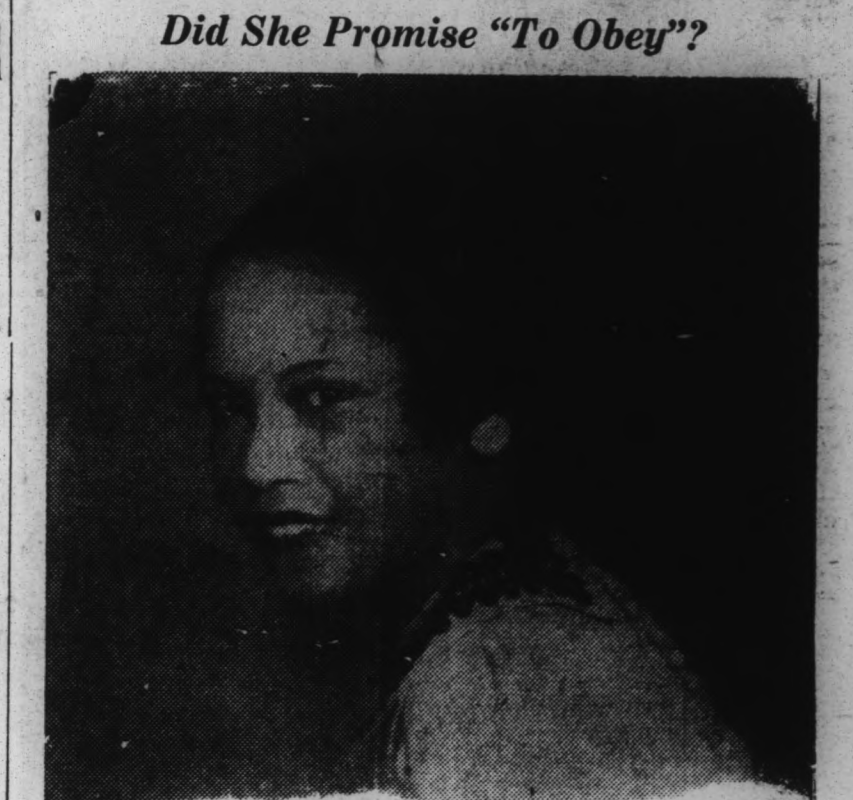

The noted educator mentioned these Olympic athletes as examples of the cultured Negro professional person who seeks to practice in some parts of the South. Because adult members of his family are deprived of access to cultural institutions and the poor schools afforded his children the cultured Negro is forced to remain in Northern communities, Dr. Johnson said.

The "appalling ratio" of one dentist to 14,686 population in the Eastern South Central states and similar ratios in other sections were cited by the speaker as one result of the uncooperative environment which forces the Negro to flight. Throughout the nation there are but 1,733 dentists, one for every 3,000, as compared with one white dentist for every 800 white population.

A serious obstacle confronting the professional man is the refusal of whites in the same line of activity to recognize his efforts, Dr. Johnson asserted, but added gratifying progress, although very slow, is being made currently to remove these obstacles in the South.

Boys Snubbed In Relay Choice

BERLIN, August 15.—(Special)—That "green-eyed" monster, discrimination, flared up in the closing events of the track and field program in the eleventh olympiad when handlers of the United States took defeat in the 1600-meter relay event last Sunday.

Rather than use both or either of their 400-meter Negro athletes, the coaches used a "illy white" relay team which bowed to England; many prominent Europeans and members of the press, radio commentators were loud in their rebuke for this glaring international mistake on the part of the coaches.

It was freely stated that either Archie Williams, winner of the 400-meter championship of Jimmy DeWalt, who placed third could have given the United States enough speed to have easily won the race, or that had the coaches drafted both Negro runners, a new record might have been set.

TRIES TO KILL PRISONER WHO SAYS WIFE WELCOMED ADVANCES

ANNISTON, Ala., Aug. 11.—(ANP)—Asserting from the witness stand that the alleged rape victim, a white housewife, had told him she was willing to submit to his advances, Roosevelt Collins narrowly escaped with his life in the crowded courtroom guarded by 150 armed militiamen last week when Joe Hill, the woman's husband, drew a gun and was prevented only by guards from shooting the prisoner. A jury after 20 minutes deliberation decreed death and Collins' execution in the electric chair was set for September 4.

The trial of Collins, similar to those conducted recently in Alabama and other parts of the South necessitating the bringing in of soldiers to insure "justice" and on mob violence, is expected to end the case which inflamed the area with a strong wave of anti-Negro sentiment. Soon after the attack, July 13 on Mrs. Hill, rioting broke out with armed whites attacking Negroes in all parts of the city and chasing them off the streets, wounding some. Governor Bibb Graves was forced to call out the militia to restore quiet.

Following the attempted shooting of the prisoner by the woman's husband and the return of Collins from this city to safety, Judge E. B. Carr who presided called Hill to the bench and reprimanded him. "I couldn't help it judge," the white man said. "I stated to kill him twice this morning, but there were two newspapermen sitting behind him and God kept telling me I might kill one of them. I planned to rush up to him on the stand before I shot, so I wouldn't hurt anybody else."

Everybody who entered the courtroom was supposed to have been carefully searched and there was no explanation as to how Hill got the gun. He indicated afterward, however, it had been given to him inside the courtroom.

The trouble began when Collins, placed on the stand in his own behalf by court-appointed defense counsel, refuted charges of criminal assault and said the woman had told him she was willing to submit to his advances. When Hill leaped to his feet at this point and reached for the gun, four highway patrolmen overpowered

Charges Hitler Treated Race Lads "With Gross Discourtesy"

NEW YORK, August 13.—Colored Americans should have full equality as American citizens and be guaranteed all the rights in the U. S. constitution, writes Hugh Bradley, sports columnist for the New York Post in his column for August 6.

Mr. Bradley, commenting upon the victories of Jesse Owens, sensational athlete at the Olympic games in Berlin, declared that Owens and other colored winners were treated "with gross discourtesy" by Chancellor Adolf Hitler; but that many people and many newspapers in America who are blaming Hitler, do not give the colored boys and the colored people the rights they should have in their own country. He calls for a new deal all around.

Bradley reveals that his family came from the South and fought with the Confederate army in the Civil War. In his closing paragraph he says: "What would do the world—as well as the more vociferous quacks of the United States—some good would be an honest reaffirmation of the constitutional guarantee that all men are created free and equal. . . . By choice, as well as right, they (the colored athletes) are American citizens. "As one whose ancestors took considerable liking before signing on the line for the early 'teen amendments, I offer to advanced thinkers and peddlers of newspapers the thought they should be treated as such abroad as well as at home."

COTTON "THEFT" OF AGED MAN JUSTIFIED

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 13.—(ANP)—Another story of the unfairness of the sharecropping system in the South was added to the long list of others Thursday when Andrew Shinholster, 60-year-old Negro, testified before Adrian Bonnelly, deputy attorney general, in his fight extradition to Georgia to answer charges of burglary.

ATTACK 'JITNEY' CABS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—(ANP)—Believed to have been inspired by the bus company and Yellow Cab drivers unable to meet competition, police last week began a wholesale arrest of Negro cab drivers who dominate Southside streets by carrying passengers for ten cents.

There has been periodic warfare between the two groups for control of this business worth a reputed million dollars annually, but it was believed all difficulties had been ironed out until last week when fifty drivers were arrested and charged with "picking up another passenger without consent of the first."

Cab companies contend that inasmuch as bus officials refuse to hire Negro drivers, they are justified in getting what business they can. Lately Yellow cabs have been cruising through the Southside on a dime basis but Negroes have shunned them.

In order to combat this action by police, the result of a recently passed city ordinance, colored cab companies have formed a protective association and have hired two of the area's most talented lawyers to combat these acts. It is expected, however, that the trouble will subside within a few days as it previously has.

WPA ORDER BANS JIM CROW

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(ANP)—Following a conference between WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins and a delegation of Negro Building Trades Workers representing the Negro Workers' Councils and the National Urban League, Hopkins has just issued an order to WPA administrators and supervisors to abolish racial discrimination on projects they oversee.

The delegation cited instances of discrimination, especially on construction jobs, taking place in Missouri, New York, New Jersey, and Alabama, and asked for a regulation prohibiting such practices. The result was Administrative Order No. 44, superseding No. 41, issued last month, and stating:

"Workers who are qualified by training and experience to be assigned to work projects and who are eligible as specifically provided by law and by these regulations, shall not be discriminated against on any ground whatever such as race, religion, or political affiliation."

The Urban League, stating it realized the difficulties of Hopkins in attacking local problems from his national office, has asked all workers to check up on all cases of discrimination and relay specific instances to both Hopkins and the national office of the league. Complaints must be substantiated by affidavits of the persons discriminated against, names of officials involved, dates, and circumstances, the league said.

LABELS ANTI-LANDON REMARKS "MALICIOUS", DEPRIEST FUMES

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—(ANP)—Branding as false and malicious an alleged anti-Landon statement appearing in a recent issue of a national newspaper, and attributed to him, former Congressman Oscar Depriest this week not only vehemently denied making the assertion but reaffirmed his espousal and support of Gov. Landon as the Republican candidate for the highest office in the land.

The alleged statement, "I have to go back home and get hell for this guy Landon in order to be elected myself," declared the former member of Congress who seeks reelection at the November election: "I have had occasion to meet and observe Governor Landon some three or four years before his name ever reached the press as possible presidential timber. My impression of him at that time was favorable and that impression has not since been altered. . . . I tendered the Governor my services to assist his campaign along any lines he suggested. . . . The people of my race well know that I have the courage of my convictions and have never failed to demonstrate this with candidates for the presidency, with Presidents or in Congress. . . . I charge that this whole story has been actuated by sinister motives. . . . And damages me personally without utter justification, because of its falsity."

Urges Income Tax Repeal --- Beckwith

Speaking in the Delaware Circuit Court Room at Muncie, Indiana, Tuesday night before a meeting sponsored by the Republican Women's Co-operative League of Delaware County, Frank R. Beckwith, Republican nominee for State representative discussed the need for immediate repeal of the Indiana Gross Income Tax Law and return of the Federal Government to sound principles of economy and common sense. "Providence has bounteously bestowed upon our great nation all the natural elements necessary to enable us to produce and manufacture food and other commodities of life, but it was not the intention of the Supreme Ruler of the universe that food should be destroyed and production curtailed while many of our citizens are compelled to live in want," he said. He bitterly scored the Federal government for having jeopardized the interests of business and industry to a point that it has prevented the recovery of the country from the throes of depression.

The meeting was preceded by a dinner at Inloe Springs, east of Muncie which was attended by white and colored republican leaders of Muncie in honor of the speaker.

KANSANS WIN POLL RIGHTS IN FAR-REACHING DECISION

PARSONS, Kas., Aug. 12.—(ANP)—A victorious court decision, one directly affecting the franchise rights of Negroes in every Jim Crow state in the nation, was handed down this week upholding the right of Parsons Negroes to serve as election officials and naming three colored women to serve in this capacity in the Second Precinct of the Third Ward.

The decision came after a hard-fought battle for representation on the city's election board waged by J. W. Wright, colored Republican precinct committeeman, with Elsie Scott, well known Topeka attorney, representing the women plaintiffs in the case.

Attorney Scott, in order to force a showdown in the matter and determine the attitude of city officials, on July 30, filed a petition for a writ of mandamus in the state supreme court, alleging that the city refused to appoint as election officials the persons recommended, as provided by law.

Jews Jump Jim-Crow In England

LONDON, England, Aug. 4.—(ANP)—When Miss Maudelle B. Blousfield, University of Wisconsin graduate student and daughter of Dr. Midian O. Blousfield of Chicago, one of America's most widely known medical leaders, and Hilton Hanna, a student of journalism at the same school, arrived here this week on the first lap of a continental tour, they were met with the dread spectre of color prejudice when a London Hotel sought to close its doors on Hanna because of his color.

The two young people traveling as part of a group comprising a dozen University of Wisconsin students had made the trip on the Beregarra. Arrangements had been made for the group to stop at a London hotel. Traveling on the same boat were some thirty-five Jewish people likewise on a tour and booked for the same hostelry. When the hotel people caught a glimpse of Hanna they promptly refused to accept him as a guest, but overlooked Mrs. Blousfield whose complexion did not reveal her racial identity.

"Shorty" Collins, beloved university faculty member promptly stated that none of the University of Wisconsin group would accept their reservations unless Hanna was included. He was joined in his protest by the entire Jewish group which had fraternized with Miss Blousfield and young Hanna on the entire trip. The Jewish

Recorder Newsies' Picnic To Be "Tops" Monday, August 24th

New Shoes Cause Trouble.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 13.—(ANP)—When Pleas Abram noticed his wife, Maggie Lee, 32, had a new pair of shoes Sunday, he started thinking. Pleas knew he hadn't bought them. Neither had his wife, the husband thought. So he began to grow more jealous by the moment. Finally an argument started. Pleas stabbed her four times with an ice-pick. She died. The husband is now in jail charged with murder.

Steve George's Farm will echo and re-echo to the joyous sound of several hundred Recorder newsies and their little friends when they gather on Monday, August 24, to hold their annual picnic. Never before have such intensive plans been made to make the little friends of Indiana's Greatest Weekly happy on their day of days.

All newsies and their little friends must be at the Recorder office at 7:30 A. M., sharp, so that they may be taken out to spend the day in the cool, invigorating air of the country, where appetites will be sharpened by games, with prizes being awarded. Parents are extended the invitation to come but the Recorder does not wish any of their "Little Faithfuls" to be left, so parents must furnish their own conveyance. The picnicers will be entertained by a band and "swing music" will be plentiful. Plenty of eats, and plenty of sweets for everybody.

Don't forget the date, August 24th, at 7:30 A. M., we will meet you in front of The Recorder office, 618 Indiana Ave.

BLACK LEGION MEMBERS BARES MONSTROUS KILLING PLAN

TO INJECT TYPHOID GERMS INTO MILK, CHEESE--ADMITS MEMBER

DETROIT, Aug. 12.—(Special) Planning mass killing through the medium of injecting typhoid germs by hypodermic needle through the caps into bottles of milk and cheese, the Black Legion grew more sinister as the diabolic scheme was disclosed to Prosecutor D. C. McCrea of Wayne county.

The plot, McCrea announced, was directed against the enemies of the Black Legion in general and not against any specific persons. The cult classed all Jews, Catholics, communists and anarchists as its enemies.

McCrea announced this was the first evidence of any plans for a mass slaying by the hooded society. Guthrie is held on charges of conspiracy to riot with a plot to break up a political meeting held by a communist organizer. Previously he told McCrea of a Black Legion plot whereby 13 cult members would link McCrea's name with the organization.

Names King Leader

Guthrie named Arthur F. Lupp, state commander of the legion and former state milk inspector, as a ring leader in the fantastic plot. He also named another man whom he termed a chemist and a bacteriologist and who is now being questioned by the prosecutor's office. The name of the chemist was not revealed by McCrea.

Guthrie said that Lupp, who is held in the murder plot to kill Arthur L. Kingsley, newspaper publisher, and the chemist came to Detroit to plan the killing. Lupp, assistant prosecuting attorney.

"The chemist said he wanted to breed germs in his basement in the winter. My basement is always warm because I operate a bath and massage parlor there."

Dowling asked Guthrie what the nature of the germs was.

"Typhoid," he said.

"Did they say what they were going to do with them?" asked Dowling.

"Yes," Guthrie said, "they told me about a plan to put the germs into a syringe which could be injected through the caps on milk bottles. Whoever got the milk would not know it had been touched. They also said something about putting it in cottage cheese, which the chemist said was perfect as a breeding material for the germs."

Guthrie told Dowling that the plot at that time was not being made against any particular person.

"But they did mention a market some place," he added.

Guthrie said that he attempted to discourage the plot, and told Lupp and the chemist he would burn anything like that they put in his house. He said that the business locality "where most of the enemies were" would be the most likely district of attack.

L. A. GRAND JURY PROBES STORIES OF TWO BLACK LEGION VICTIMS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—(By J. Cullen Pentecost for ANP)—The criminal complaint committee of the Grand Jury heard Tuesday morning from the lips of Horace Hampton, son of a reputable family here, and his two attorneys, Thomas L. Griffith, Jr., and Loren Miller, stories of an alleged attack late the night of July 17 by five or six men thought to be members of the Black Legion and police department, and instructed Deputy District Attorney Charles Mathews to conduct an investigation of the charges for the purpose of presenting it to the Grand Jury when its calendar so permits.

A committee of twenty-five prominent citizens of the Eastside, headed by Atty. Griffith, who is president of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, counseled by the alleged attack, called on District Attorney Buron Fitts last week and succeeded in securing the hearing of the criminal complaints committee.

The citizens committee was told by Deputy Eugene Black of the Grand Jury that the Grand Jury, in the midst of several probes at present, would hear results of the investigation into alleged brutal attacks here at the earliest possible date.

Hampton, a Warner Bros. studio employee, in company with Don Walker and Alpheus Brewer, son of a retired minister, on the night in question, told newspapers here that early Saturday morning, July 18, he was accosted by five white men who said they were police officers and members of the Black Legion and accused him of committing a nuisance on the street. When he denied it, he said, he was beaten, threatened and put in the car of the alleged officers, who following further maltreatment of the youth, assertedly threw him from the machine at Jefferson and Stanford streets.

The youths who were in the company of Hampton, both of whom are well known in the younger set here, were not molested.

3 BLACK LEGION MEN CONVICTED

(By Special Correspondence) DETROIT, Aug. 12.—Convicting three and acquitting three, the first kidnap and flogging trial of men of the Black Legion was announced recently here. They were charged with false imprisonment of Robert Penland.

The trial, which consumed an entire week, ended yesterday. Both state and defense counsel waived arguments, leaving the issue to be decided from a welter of conflicting testimony.

The six defendants took the stand, and each entered a blanket denial of the charges. They are Charles D. King, a former village trustee of suburban Ecorse; Wilbur Robinson, who admitted he was a "brigadier general" of the Black Legion; Harold Lawrence, a steel worker and "captain" of the cult; Thomas Cox, mill hand; Earl Angstadt, and Frederick A. Guiley, who repudiated testimony upon which the state had built much of its case.

They were accused of forcing Penland to go with them to an open air Black Legion meeting on October 5, 1935, and flogging him—tied to a tree—for not attending meetings.

First arrests in the Penland case were announced by Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea on June 4, shortly after the investigation of Black Legion terrorism in Michigan started with the slaying May 12 of Charles A. Poole.

The flogging trial started last Thursday. Penland, who prosecutors said feared Black Legion retaliation, testified he was not whipped, although he went unwillingly with Guiley and Cox to the meeting, believing there was a gun at his back.

Guiley testified at his examination a month ago that Penland was lashed "perhaps a dozen times" by a masked legionnaire, but at the trial he denied there was a flogging and said his previous testimony was part of a police "frame-up."

He charged that two officers of suburban Ecorse, Sergt. Robert McWhirter and Lieut. David Geary, were important in the matter. The police force and induced him and Cox to "make up" the story.

Guiley asserted he was coached in telling the story to the prosecutor's office and after his first testimony was warned he would be "looked up for perjury" if he changed his story.

McWhirter and Genow, denying Guiley's charges, testified that Guiley and Cox went to them because they were "on the spot" and "afraid of being flogged themselves."

DOCTOR'S WHITE EX-WIFE WORKS IN DRESS SHOP

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—(ANP) resident Lee Worthing, one-time Zigfield Polles beauty who broke into the headlines by her love for dope and marriage to Dr. Eugene Nelson, Negro physician, is making a "comeback" as forewoman at an apparel shop, it was revealed last week.

The marriage of Miss Worthing to Dr. Nelson created national comment as did their stormy marital life and divorce, following a sensational trial. September of last year she again made the front page when she was taken to a hospital after swallowing poison.

"I don't dare any more," she told hospital attendants then. "I've had so many bad breaks in recent years that death seems preferable to life. And anyway, my boy friend has given me the 'run-around'."

But she entered a home where she learned to operate a sewing machine. Then she obtained employment. Her efficiency as a sewing machine operator in an apparel factory recently caused her promotion to the job of forewoman.

SCHORTEMEIER MAPS WORK FOR G. O. P. WOMEN

COLORED FIGHT ON ROYALIST SIDE IN SPANISH REVOLUTION

PARIS, Aug. 13.—(By Nancy Cunard for ANP)—How colored people are in every line is shown by the fact of thousands of native North African troops now on board the battleships of the rebel fascist forces of Spain at this moment trying to land these troops to march them against the government in Madrid in an attempt to capture the capital and subdue the rest of Spain by avowedly atrocious terrorizations and massacres. The Spanish fascist rebels are using native troops to massacre Spanish workers almost as miserably and oppressed as the North Africans themselves. These are the methods of a imperialist power.

In France the black Senegalese soldiers have been used again and again to shoot down striking French workers. [Take your revenge now on the whites," say their French officers on such occasions. The French workers understand well that the colonized Africans are in the most appalling military servitude, and there is no ill-feeling against them because this fact is so well analyzed.]

The ghastliness, the magnitude and the closeness of the civil war in Spain, and the possibility that civil war may, indeed, come here, in France, engineered by the alliances of the fascist leaders of diverse countries, is foremost in the minds of all. Every single other matter (things that were vital and immediate until the Spanish war began) is now secondary to this—except of course as to where the same trouble might break out elsewhere. Today's papers contain the most troubling news of violent and large-scale fascist provocations in Austria on the part of German Nazis. If the fascists in France start a civil war it is impossible for them to win without the intervention of other powers such as Germany and Italy—who are only waiting for the chance, he said, Senegalese, Ivory-Coastians and other French colonials, would play immense role. The rank and file of the French army, is without any question of doubt, loyal to the present government here. The black troops would be in the front lines against the fascist enemies and invaders. (It would be more apt then to say to them: "Take your revenge on the savishers of Ethiopia.")

Last night there was a meeting of solidarity with Spain, of 30,000 people here in Paris, amidst such enthusiasm as I have never seen. Two of the Catalan leaders had come from Barcelona straight from their victory on the barricades in the streets of that city. Tonight there is another gigantic meeting of Spanish-French Solidarity in the mammoth stadium here.

There are those who say "Ethiopia is a closed book; it is dead news." We know it is not—although the whole ghastly betrayal in Geneva has marked the end of the first terrible chapter.

The bowing down to Mussolini by the weak powers will be very largely responsible for the same ghastly state of things as is now in force in Spain—if such state of things does come to pass here in France. The betrayal of Ethiopia will be one of the first stages in the next World War.

SELASSIE TOLD TO "SLOW DOWN" BY ASTROLOGER

LONDON, Aug. 13.—(ANP)—Successes now enjoyed by Ethiopian guerrillas in attacks on Addis Ababa and Italian strongholds have led Emperor Haile Selassie, now living quietly at exclusive Worthing, in Sussex, to reconsider the possibility of returning to the capital of unconquered Ethiopia, to lead to fight on the invaders.

Chief obstacles to such a program are his wife and Ras Kassa, one of his ablest generals who followed him in exile and whose son is leading the Addis Ababa attack, and his lack of money. The little king of kings realizes he would be unable to supply his soldiers with the arms and ammunition they would eventually demand.

It has been definitely established that Selassie does not have the fabulous treasure accredited to him by sensational journalists who saw him leave French Somaliland with many trunks. Popularly believed to contain millions of dollars worth of gold and silver, it has been since learned that these trunks and chests contained mainly heirlooms of little value to anybody except himself and family.

His funds are known to actually be so limited that if invested at the present time would yield a monthly income not exceeding $500. Most of his vast fortune was spent in fighting a fruitless war against the invaders.

European powers both encourage and discourage Haile's return. His presence in Ethiopia would serve to prevent recognition of Italian rule which it is believed France and England will do as soon as is advisable. His presence would also serve to prevent currently rebellious chiefs from going to the Italian side following the end of the rainy season when the invaders can bring gas and planes into play.

On the other hand, if France and Britain have decided definitely to recognize Italy's conquest they might keep him out of Ethiopia to avoid complications since he could return to his country only by their cooperation. The case of Dedjasmach Makonnen, former governor of Edilabab, is recalled by the Emperor's counselors.

This governor consulted with Selassie recently in London and then attempted to return home. British authorities held him up at Khartoum until it was definitely decided at the recent league of nations meet that Italian domination would not be recognized. He was finally allowed to proceed on July 6—and has not been heard from since.

Word from Gore and from various legations at Addis Ababa refute British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's assertion that there is no organized resistance in Abyssinia, as well as reveal the present whereabouts of many prominent native officials.

Ras Imru, recognized before the war as one of the negus' most dependable rulers, has a permanent base at Gore. Working with him is Bitwaded Walde Sadek, former president of the Ethiopian senate, who exercises authority over chiefs of Wallacea and Keffa, said to be a larger strip of land than that under control of the Italians.

Ras Desta, who led the forces on the extreme southeastern front; Dedjasmach Gabre Mariam, former governor of Harar, and Fuire Selassie, former finance minister, are in the vast and seemingly impenetrable province of Sidamo and reputedly in constant touch with Gore.

Ras Seyoum, best fighter of the races in Ethiopia, is directing guerrilla warfare in Tembien province with the help of Dedjasmach Ayellou, and his forces are responsible for the recent bloody battle on the Dessye-Addis Ababa road. Recently these Ethiopians are reported to have wiped out an entire Italian column after a three-day battle, although at great cost to themselves.

More Abyssinian activity is reported in the Chercher district west of Harar, where the remnants of the Harar army under Fiturari Melion continue to harass Italian patrols. Ethiopians deny the invaders captured Garamulla, mountain stronghold where Jelassie was formerly imprisoned.

Addis Ababa is being kept in a constant state of siege by Dedjasmach Abera, Ras Kassa's son, reported to have been wounded in a raid on the capital recently. A ring has been drawn around the town by fierce irregular bands who constantly elude the Askari, Italian native troops, and prevent the peasantry from bringing foodstuffs into the city. Many peasants have been executed for trying to break the siege.

An estimated 300,000 warriors still possess guns and many are engaged in this guerrilla warfare. Between 50,000 and 100,000 have been killed or maimed during the regular fighting.

Many rifles and machine guns have been reported by Ethiopians as captured in raids on Addis Ababa. The captives' native population has been ordered to stay indoors and there have been many executions, including that of Bishop Petros, for aiding the Abyssinians.

A band of Ethiopian tribesmen is said to be entrenched outside Addis Ababa near the Djibouti railway. They are commanded by Teke Hawariat, who abandoned his post as Ethiopian minister to Paris to serve in the field under Selassie.

At Lake Tana a tribal army under Gen. Wand Ravassan, another son of Ras Kassa, was reported successfully battling Italian troops sent to drive him away. The slaughter has been great on both sides and the fascists were said to be in danger of complete annihilation.

CLABBER REPRESENTATIVES SAY
SOUTHERN WORK SUCCESSFUL

Returning from the southland to Indianapolis for a three-weeks' vacation, Grady Blackshear and Miss Sargent will renew old acquaintances here.

Mr. Grady who is employed by the Clabber Baking Powder company revealed the astonishing success that had followed his efforts in introducing his product in the south.

With the aid of Miss Sargent, who is a graduate of the Economics department of Indiana University, cooking schools, food shows and cooking demonstrations were enthusiastically received. Mr. Blackshear stated, in this and related matters they contacted in a six-months' period more than a hundred-thirty-five thousand women, and their work took them into the states of North and South Carolina and Georgia, he said.

So popular were the demonstrations said to be the first held in the south by the Clabber employees that they have been asked by the women of the sections visited to make their food and cooking shows annual affairs. Frequently, women of the local communities aided in the work of demonstrating. The brunt of the work, of course, was carried by Miss Sargent, and her work has brought her national as well as sectional commendation of the highest nature. Mr. Blackshear served as director of the schools and enjoyed the heartiest cooperation from the white daily papers and the colored papers.

POLICY STRIKE
RESULTS WHEN
"ODDS" SHRINK

CHARLESTON, Pa., August 13.—(ANP)—What has been called the strangest strike in America's history and certainly the oddest ever seen in these parts, was witnessed here recently when 30 striking numbers or policy writers paraded the streets declaiming against the injustices heaped upon them and demanding redress for their grievances, which they declared were: The syndicate of numbers barons operating out of Washington, Pa., had cut the payoff odds from 500-to-1, to 400-to-1. Thus, with the usual commission of 50c paid to numbers writers on every play, deducted—the new odds would make a "hit" worth only $3.50.

Numbers, according to those "in the know" is notoriously the longest gamble (999-to-1) of any game of chance in the world. The striking writers protested that the short odds on their long gamble would seriously impair their business, and their picketing "technique" consisted in contacting all customers, asking them to withhold their "play" until the numbers barons "kicked in" and restored the old operating percentage of 500-to-1.

MAN SHOT
Police in response to a call, found Leonard Moore, 547 Douglas street, who had been shot in the left knee. Moore said that he was shot by Ted Tompkins who lives near Vermont and California streets. Wm. Kemp, 547 Douglas, and Moore had been in a crap game in Hadley street when the argument started and was climaxed by the shooting, police say.

NEW MERIT SCHOOL FOR POLICE STARTS IN SEPT.
President Theodore H. Dammeier, of the Board of Safety announces that a new Merit school for police will open on or about the first of September. Sixty men will be selected by the mayor and the board of safety for the training tests. This will be the second school conducted to fill vacancies in the police department; twelve men from the school were named a few weeks ago. Application for the school are being issued at the safety board office in the city hall.

HOME "FREEZES"

Besides the millions of pounds of ice cream we buy in summer, we make, all told, unguessable quantities at home, especially in these days of freezing-madness. It used to take at the simplest only a pan of cracked ice and salt, and a bowl of whipped cream, sweetened and flavored, to make the kind of ice cream to which we apply the French word mousse. With a mechanical refrigerator and its convenient freezing unit, making mousse is simpler still. With a home-size freezer and a good arm to turn the crank, we may add ice cream and ice cream to the list of home freezes, especially while the home grown fruits are here.

In flavor, mousse may be as varied as any other ice cream. But mousse is a "still freeze." Other ice creams, and the sherbets and ices, must be stirred as they freeze, and for this we need a freezer with a dasher.

In other words, says the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the texture of a frozen dessert—its softness and smoothness to the tongue—depends largely on the size of the crystals that form as it freezes, and there are different ways of controlling the crystals. To be soft enough to eat at all, the mixture must be frozen in small crystals, and not in a solid block of ice such as forms when water stands at freezing temperature. What freezes in the ice cream, however, is the water that is in the cream and perhaps in the flavoring. To make the ice crystals small, the water particles must somehow be interfered with and kept apart as they freeze. In any ice cream this interference is provided partly by the fat particles which mingle with the water particles in the cream itself. Additional interference is provided in mousse by whipping air into the cream before freezing it; in other ice cream by stirring constantly as the freezing goes on.

Mousse, then, which is French for froth, or foam, is really frozen foam. The cream is heavy enough to hold the air whipped into it, and the air bubbles, together with fat particles, interfere with the combination of water particles, into large crystals, and of small ice crystals into larger ones. To make the simplest mousse, whip the cream sweet and flavor it, pour it into the drawer of a freezing unit of a mechanical refrigerator, and leave it. Or set the mixture, in a bowl, in a pan with cracked ice and salt surrounding and covering the bowl. It three or four hours it is ready to serve.

With fruit flavorings, use equal parts of cream and crushed fruit, sweetened to taste.

For a mousse not so rich in fat, use some thin cream or rich milk in addition to the whipping cream, and use egg whites and a little gelatin also as "stabilizers"—i. e., instead of just the fat, as in the richer mixture, to keep the water particles from freezing into coarse crystals. Such a mousse calls for 1 cup of double cream, 1 cup of rich milk, or thin cream, 1 teaspoon gelatin, 6 tablespoons of sugar, 2 egg whites, a bit of salt, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Soak the gelatin until soft in a little of the milk or thin cream. Heat the re-

HISTORY OF SOUTH CALVARY

About the year 1875 there was a group living near the region known Fletcher Farm, and belonging to Mt. Zion Baptist church. Out of necessity some of the men were forced to work on Sunday and as Mt. Zion adhered strictly to the observance of the Sabbath the hand of fellowship was withheld from them. Through this gesture was born South Calvary Baptist church; for wishing instruction in the word of God these humble Christian people sought first one and then another minister to lead them and finally organized the present church. Worship was first conducted in an abandoned blacksmith shop across the street of the present site. There are some members still alive and active in the present church who worshipped God in that humble blacksmith shop.

One of these persons is Brother G. W. Cappel the deacon oldest in age and service in the church. Sister Lottie Martin also joined Calvary in this first church. Rev. C. F. Williams was the pastor of South Calvary at this time and proved such a capable one that it outgrew the blacksmith shop and was forced to build a new edifice on the present site. Many of us who are active workers in Calvary today served God under Rev. Williams and hold his memory in our hearts. We feel that the early life of Calvary would be incomplete without mentioning the name of Sister C. J. Maxey who was with us almost from the beginning as organist-teacher and every place where her hands found work to do. Sister Mary Williams, the wife of Rev. Williams, is still remembered and blessed by many as a real Christian character who spent her life doing charitable deeds.

At the death of Rev. Williams, Rev. G. L. Lillard became pastor and under his pastorate we were able to improve our church, putting in the basement and buying the corner lot. He is also remembered for his good works. Rev. J. T. Higbough was the next pastor of Calvary, and we built the present church during his stay. During that time we can also say that Calvary emerged second to none in prominence in the state. Upon Rev. Higbough's resignation God in His highest wisdom sent us our present pastor, Rev. S. S. Thomas. We are stepping higher every day under the pastor and feel that a new day is just about to begin for us. Sunday, Aug. 16, 1936. We are preparing to celebrate the 61th Anniversary of the South Calvary church which from such humble beginning has attained through such noble heights.

"3 MEN ON A HORSE SETS"
RECORD AT THEATRE
NEW YORK CITY, August 12.—(INP)—There'll be a gala round of festivities at Aunt Dinah's Kitchen, Harlem's most novel rendezvous, on the night of Sunday, August 16, when Richard Huey, one of the featured actors, and the only Negro in the cast of "3 Men on a Horse," will assist in the celebration of the 65th performance of the famous Broadway comedy, which is a new record for the playhouse.

The playhouse has sheltered such hits as "The Man Who Came Back," "Street Scene," "The Road to Rome" and "The First Mrs. Frazier." But when "3 Men on a Horse" passes its 65th performance on the 16th of this month it will have surpassed the mark set by "The Road to Rome" in 1927-1928, which rolled up a figure of 648.

The acting of Mr. Huey in the Alex Yoke hit has been impressive, having drawn favorable criticisms from practically every drama critic in New York City. Huey will be best remembered for his fine work in the stage version of "Porgy" which was presented by the Theatre Guild some seasons back.

Slashed, Condition
Remains Serious
Clint Shove, 31, 404 West 16th street, is in a critical condition at the City hospital as the results of a cutting affray in which Gilbert Shannon, 36, 706 West 16th street, slashed his abdominal region with a pocket-knife. Wm. Baker, 931 Paca, was able to identify Shannon as the man who did the cutting as Shove was unable to talk. Elizabeth Hill, 25, 451 West 16th street, refused to tell the police any thing to help clear some of the hazy details, was slated for vagrancy who investigated the affray. Shannon is charged with assault and battery with attempt to kill, pending the outcome of Shove's condition.

COTTON "THEFT"

July 11. The aged sharecropper said he was entitled to what he got. After failing to get his one-half share of the year's cotton crop, he helped himself to the cottonseed which he sold for $29.50.

He asserted further that Frank Bell, son-in-law of Mrs. Napier, reached over his shoulder as he was about to cash the check for the cottonseed next day and "stuck the money in his pocket." Afraid that something might happen to him, Shinholster left Georgia and came North to Philadelphia, hunting a job.

His wife also testified that she was jailed fifteen days, fined $50, and charged $9 for jail board because she did not know where her husband was.

Other sharecroppers, who said they formerly worked on the Napier plantation, also asserted they never got any profits and if they asked for an accounting, were told they were even with the books. Shinholster said he had never seen his accounting because "they would have taken me out, and I don't know what would have become of me."

The aged man's attorneys, R. C. Nix and Louis McCabe, argued Georgia was trying to inflict private vengeance and that Shinholster, ill with heart trouble, would die if he were sent to a chain-gang. They contended he could not get a fair trial.

The Rev. Marshall A. Shepard and Homer S. Brown, state assemblymen from Philadelphia, and a committee of twelve "hunger marchers" occupying the state house to demand unemployment relief, added their pleas against returning Shinholster to Georgia. Gov. Earle is expected to pass judgment soon.

WATCH YOUR HEALTH
SUNBURN

The summer sun is now flooding the earth with the full force of its heating and healing rays. Sunlight is essential to life, but too much at one time, when one is not prepared for it, may be harmful.

The ultra violet rays as absorbed by the skin are the ones responsible for sunburn and inasmuch as these are cold rays, it is possible for them to reach the skin without your being aware of it. For example, on a cloudy day, when the warmth of the sun is entirely lacking, you can nevertheless be severely burned, inasmuch as enough of the ultra violet rays will strike the skin to cause the characteristic burning. The heat rays of the sun do not cause burning as the burning is produced by these cold rays. This explains why you could be severely sunburned when you are on top of a mountain in zero weather.

One of the characteristic features of this type of skin injury is that the redness does not appear until several hours later; therefore, you can not hope to judge whether you are sunburned or not during the early part of the exposure period.

It is evident that people vary in their susceptibility to sunburn, and the ease with which the skin is injured depends upon its thinness, delicacy and light coloring. The blond, having a delicate, fair skin will burn far more readily than the brunette with a heavier and darker skin.

Most of the severe sunburns occur with those just going on vacation who are over-enthusiastic about staying in the sun the first day or two. The skin is unaccustomed to such exposure and has not yet time to protect itself by tanning. Many vacationists make the mistake of trying to get a deep mahogany tan the first day and do not realize that sunlight, like other things, is best taken in moderation at first.

The average sunburn is a first degree burn, the skin showing a fiery red and appearing tense and swollen. The extreme burning sensation which appears may make the patient so uncomfortable that he is unable to sleep at night. In severe cases, the affected area becomes edematous, that is, fluid collects as though the patient had dropsy. A little later, the skin itches and then peels.

When you wish to tan the skin, expose the uncovered body for only a short time and then gradually lengthen the time of exposure each day. In that way the skin will tan slowly, without any sensation of burning. Do not make the mistake of lying in direct sunlight dressed in a bathing suit and then going to sleep. Before taking a nap, cover up with a robe or blanket.

The ultra violet rays of the sun are beneficial in helping your body to make good use of calcium, thus building strong bones and teeth.

Well Known South-Side Woman Dies
Mrs. Mattie Matthews, 56, 1447 Camby street, well known resident of "Love-town," died suddenly, Tuesday morning at the City hospital, death resulting from a broken vein.

Mrs. Matthews was found lying in a field adjoining her home where she was after becoming excited by the flow of blood, by Mrs. McPerson and Ward Taylor and it was at first thought that she had been shot.

KANSANS WIN POLL RIGHTS
IN FAR-REACHING DECISION

sioners still had to solve the problem of a polling place in the precinct, in view of the assertion of Mrs. Mae Phillips that the election board in her precinct cannot use her home as a polling place "if Negroes serve."

This matter is also taken care of in the court stipulation which provides that in the event there is any controversy over the designated place of voting at the home of Mrs. Phillips, as heretofore announced in the notice of election, "Then a temporary structure or tent may be erected in or near the premises for the accommodation of the Election Board."

Parsons residents are jubilant over the successful outcome of the case, declaring that if similar fights for the recognition were waged intelligently and by a well-devised plan of action, the way would be paved for more victories in Jim Crow states where disfranchisement is rampant and where Negroes are presumed to have no rights at the polls worthy of respect by the whites. It was pointed out during the local controversy that in the past, four Negroes have served on election boards here and no sign of trouble has ever been experienced.

PERSONALLY I think Allen comes closer to the spot than does Rex Red is a talented player in the Armstrong fashion but has enough individuality to stand on his own feet. As for Rex, he seems to me an exhibitionist—if you get what I mean. Rex has talent, a freak style, and can hit unbelievably high notes, but he seems uninspired. Bill Robinson can probably beat anybody in the world running backwards—but that doesn't make him a candidate for the Olympic team.

Then, too, there is Roy "Little Jazz" Eldridge, of Henderson's band. You can't overlook him. He follows the Armstrong tradition, can probably make the wildest "hot licks in capitivity and also has a distinctive style. Then there's Taft Jordan, of Chick Webb's band, another sensational individualist, and the up and coming Erskine Hawkins of the "Bama State Collegians. If you like the wah-wah style, then give it to Cootie Williams of Ellington's aggregation. But between Red Allen and Rex Stewart, I'll take Allen. Otherwise, send me Eldridge and Williams.

ODDS AND ENDS
Earl "Father" Hines, with his band recovered sufficiently from that recent auto accident, plays for Cleveland rag-cutters this Friday. . . . Harris and Howell, now appearing in London, are layin' 'em in the aisles. . . . Edgar Sampson, alto sax player with Chick Webb, is composer of that sensational "Stomping" for Benny Goodman. . . . "Stomping" for Henry Goodman. . . . Suppose you know Jack Hytton and another Englishman have purchased "Porgy and Bess" for London this fall. The show begins casting in September—and will probably be ily white. . . . "Garry Me Back to Green Pastures," an English song published five years ago, is expected to get quite a play over here because of the release of the "Green Pastures" film. . . . The Bing Crosby screenie in which Louis Armstrong will exercise his sky-riding trumpet is "Pennies for Sale."

THEY'RE PICKING
SWING BANDS
CHICAGO, Aug. 12—"Knock, Knock." "Who's there?" "Donald." "Donald who?" "Donald of you talk at once." Which is a good idea, as I want your whole attention for further discussion of who has America's greatest "swing" band.

Two weeks ago I left it up to you. Thus far several have spoken—and they have named only Duke Ellington and Jimmie Lunceford. Benny Goodman has not been considered, nor has any other Negro band.

Here's the opinion of Chick Finney, of the St. Louis Crackerjack rhythmic section, one of the best dance bands in that section. Mr. Finney says that all 11 members of the orchestra will tell you at once that Jimmie Lunceford has the greatest swing band in the world. He adds further "Every day we play Lunceford, Ellington, Kirk, Henderson, Waller, etc., record to improve their own style and the consensus is that 'Lunceford is the best all-around band we have ever heard.'"

But from Philadelphia comes a communication written by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Anderson and signed by eight others in which the writer says the argument of Duke we Goodman has been taken up by them and the 10 have decided that "Duke Ellington can beat Benny Goodman." Lee Robinson, of Clayton, Mo., has also written in favor of Duke saying, "Duke Ellington has the greatest swing band the world knows. May God continue His choice blessings on his musical career."

Your columnist wants to hear from more of you. If you prefer some other band such as Chick Webb, Don Redman, Fletcher Henderson, say so. Don't be afraid

However, neither the sunburn nor the tan are in themselves beneficial. In fact the tanning of the skin is in itself a protective measure, designed to keep the ultra violet rays from penetrating the skin. In other words, the one who is darkly tanned and who stays in the sun for one hour will not receive the same amount of ultra violet as the one who is not tanned at all and stays out for the same length of time.

If you do become burned, apply carbol oil which is a mixture of lime water and linseed oil. This is obtainable at any drug store and will keep the air from the skin. As soon as the carbol oil is applied, considerable relief will be felt. However, the wisest plan is to avoid too strong a dose of sunlight and thus prevent sunburn in any degree. The one following that plan will be sure to avoid the painful discomfort experienced by the one who is careless enough to expose the skin for too long a time at first.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG'S
RUNNER-UP
Ken Freeman, of Oakland, Cal., states he and "Flivver" Ford were discussing trumpet players recently. After conceding Louis Armstrong top position, Freeman chose Henry "Red" Allen of Mills Blue Rhythm band as runner-up and Ford took Rex Stewart of the Ellington aggregation. Knowing that this writer will step in where angels fear to tread, Freeman has asked me to render an opinion.

PERSONALLY I think Allen comes closer to the spot than does Rex Red is a talented player in the Armstrong fashion but has enough individuality to stand on his own feet. As for Rex, he seems to me an exhibitionist—if you get what I mean. Rex has talent, a freak style, and can hit unbelievably high notes, but he seems uninspired. Bill Robinson can probably beat anybody in the world running backwards—but that doesn't make him a candidate for the Olympic team.

Then, too, there is Roy "Little Jazz" Eldridge, of Henderson's band. You can't overlook him. He follows the Armstrong tradition, can probably make the wildest "hot licks in capitivity and also has a distinctive style. Then there's Taft Jordan, of Chick Webb's band, another sensational individualist, and the up and coming Erskine Hawkins of the "Bama State Collegians. If you like the wah-wah style, then give it to Cootie Williams of Ellington's aggregation. But between Red Allen and Rex Stewart, I'll take Allen. Otherwise, send me Eldridge and Williams.

ODDS AND ENDS
Earl "Father" Hines, with his band recovered sufficiently from that recent auto accident, plays for Cleveland rag-cutters this Friday. . . . Harris and Howell, now appearing in London, are layin' 'em in the aisles. . . . Edgar Sampson, alto sax player with Chick Webb, is composer of that sensational "Stomping" for Benny Goodman. . . . "Stomping" for Henry Goodman. . . . Suppose you know Jack Hytton and another Englishman have purchased "Porgy and Bess" for London this fall. The show begins casting in September—and will probably be ily white. . . . "Garry Me Back to Green Pastures," an English song published five years ago, is expected to get quite a play over here because of the release of the "Green Pastures" film. . . . The Bing Crosby screenie in which Louis Armstrong will exercise his sky-riding trumpet is "Pennies for Sale."

THEY'RE PICKING
SWING BANDS
CHICAGO, Aug. 12—"Knock, Knock." "Who's there?" "Donald." "Donald who?" "Donald of you talk at once." Which is a good idea, as I want your whole attention for further discussion of who has America's greatest "swing" band.

Two weeks ago I left it up to you. Thus far several have spoken—and they have named only Duke Ellington and Jimmie Lunceford. Benny Goodman has not been considered, nor has any other Negro band.

Here's the opinion of Chick Finney, of the St. Louis Crackerjack rhythmic section, one of the best dance bands in that section. Mr. Finney says that all 11 members of the orchestra will tell you at once that Jimmie Lunceford has the greatest swing band in the world. He adds further "Every day we play Lunceford, Ellington, Kirk, Henderson, Waller, etc., record to improve their own style and the consensus is that 'Lunceford is the best all-around band we have ever heard.'"

But from Philadelphia comes a communication written by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Anderson and signed by eight others in which the writer says the argument of Duke we Goodman has been taken up by them and the 10 have decided that "Duke Ellington can beat Benny Goodman." Lee Robinson, of Clayton, Mo., has also written in favor of Duke saying, "Duke Ellington has the greatest swing band the world knows. May God continue His choice blessings on his musical career."

Your columnist wants to hear from more of you. If you prefer some other band such as Chick Webb, Don Redman, Fletcher Henderson, say so. Don't be afraid

However, neither the sunburn nor the tan are in themselves beneficial. In fact the tanning of the skin is in itself a protective measure, designed to keep the ultra violet rays from penetrating the skin. In other words, the one who is darkly tanned and who stays in the sun for one hour will not receive the same amount of ultra violet as the one who is not tanned at all and stays out for the same length of time.

If you do become burned, apply carbol oil which is a mixture of lime water and linseed oil. This is obtainable at any drug store and will keep the air from the skin. As soon as the carbol oil is applied, considerable relief will be felt. However, the wisest plan is to avoid too strong a dose of sunlight and thus prevent sunburn in any degree. The one following that plan will be sure to avoid the painful discomfort experienced by the one who is careless enough to expose the skin for too long a time at first.

Annual Coalesce Picnic Is Given At McKade's Farm

"Let's have a picnic" was the cry from members of the coalesce club a few weeks ago... so... plans were developed for the tenth annual picnic of the club which was held August 9 at the McKade's Farm in Shelbyville. Three hundred city folks dragged out their picnic baskets and rushed from the hot, stuffy city to the glorious picnic spot in Shelbyville.

Fun at the picnic was in horse-back riding, dancing to Baker Brothers melodious string music, and the interesting baseball game between the ladies and men, which kept the guests in a hilarious state. The ladies were considered winners of the game in spite of the fact that the umpire, Clyde Wells, was forced to perform a double duty; that of umpiring the game and dodging all pop bottles, cans, and what-nots, which were thrown for his benefit from the grandstand.

Beside the delicious picnic foods were plenty of ice cream and cold lemonade. Club members who have received another star in their crowns for being excellent hosts are: Frank Taylor, Colman Hawkins, Winfrey Todd, William Waugh, James Hawkins, Charles Lee, Arthur Valentine, Oliver Blythe, Sea Ferguson, and A. ## RECIPES

Upside Down Ham Loaf

1 pound of ground, cured ham
1 pound of ground lean fresh pork
2 cups of fine soft bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
1 cup of milk
1-8 teaspoon of pepper
Salt to taste

Mix the above ingredients very thoroughly. Melt 3 tablespoons of butter in a loaf pan. Sprinkle with 1-2 cup of brown sugar, and arrange 4 slices of pineapple over this. Press the meat loaf mixture in the pan and mold into shape. Bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees F. then turn the loaf upside down on a platter. Serve with a border of small, buttered potatoes and small mounds of cooked greens. Serve 8.

MEAL-IN-ONE

Meal-in-one recipes always get a big hand from the housewife because of their economy of time, effort and dishes to wash. For summer time these easy whole meal dishes often take the form of a meat and vegetable salad, a cold plate and vegetable assortment or an occasional hot combination.

Make use of the unlimited assortment of fresh and dry sausages available at your market for these dishes. With absolutely no bone or waste these meats are true economy cuts.

In fresh sausages you've the whole line-up of tasty cooked meat loaves, mildly seasoned luncheon roll, frankfurters, bologna, bratwurst, etc., to choose from. Bologna a favorite fresh sausage comes in many sizes, from small rings to big fat sausages cutting in slices some five inches in diameter. It is mild, even in texture, made predominately of beef, and is most economical to serve. It may be used in casserole combination, salads, or simply fried lightly to make it cup up like a small dish in which to serve hot potato salad.

Slice Cold Loaf

The loaves, called by various names like olive loaf, pickle and pimiento loaf or homemade meat loaf, may be sliced cold at one meal and used in any of the favorite meat salads or casseroles for a second meal.

All these fresh sausages are made by the packers, from high quality government inspected meats, by the most carefully controlled methods. Spices and seasonings are most particularly watched for quality and purity so that the flavor is always just the same, in special varieties of meats. There are mild varieties like bratwurst that are fine for even young children, and more highly spiced combinations for the adult appetite. And don't neglect the fine flavor and great possibilities of dry sausages like salami and bologna. They are delightful cold, or in many combined dishes.

Choose Sausages

But, no matter what sausages you choose, it will go farther than nearly any other meat. If it is sliced cold, a pound will serve five easily. If used in the following suggested combination dishes, you can stretch a pound to serve six or seven.

Bologna Cups With Potato Salad
6 slices of large bologna
2 cups cold cooked potato
2 sweet pickles

1 cup celery

1 hard cooked egg
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 tablespoons vinegar
Mayonnaise to moisten

Slice the bologna in thin slices, straight across the sausage. Leave casing on outside. Place in a frying pan and heat gradually until the edges curl up to form a perfect cup. Fill with potato salad by mixing the potatoes, sliced egg, pickles, vinegar, onion and mayonnaise. Add extra seasoning of salt if desired. Place filled bologna cups on a platter and add strips of raw carrot for raw vegetables and as a garnish.

Silhouette Salad

1 head lettuce
1 cup celery
1 green pepper
1 cup chopped raw spinach or water cress

3 slices each of pickle and pimiento loaf and salami
Chop vegetables coarse and add salt. Rub salt bowl with a bruised clove of garlic, add vegetables and toss with French dressing. Cut meats in very thin strips and arrange in bundles over the top of the green salad. Serve crisp, hard rolls and a beverage with this luncheon dish.

Salami Scallop

6 slices Salami
3 cups sweet corn, cooked
1 pimiento
2 cups white sauce

Seasonings
Cut sliced salami in half. Cut cooked corn from cob and mix with seasoned white sauce and chopped pimiento. Make sauce by melting 1-4 cup butter, adding 1-4 cup flour and stirring in 2 cups whole milk. When thickened, season with salt and pepper.
In a casserole arrange layers of corn mixture and half slices of salami placed to overlap each other around the dish. Top with buttered crumbs and bake 30 minutes. A delicious hot dish for a cool evening.

"OUTLANDSHERS"

SMASHES BRICK LAYING RECORDS

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 13.—(CNS)—Recently at Kewanee, Ill., a colored WPA worker, Ben Williams, on a street-paving job laid 27,000 bricks in one day to set a new record by his great feat.

It is stated that although the day was "sweltering hot" he kept a dozen bottles busy laying bricks helter skelter at his feet, and put them in place with lightning-like speed.

Contractors declare that the laying of 15,000 bricks a day is a record for one man.

The Chicago Bee in commenting on the paver's achievement says: "We doubt that this accomplishment of Williams will be rewarded with promotion to a higher job with increased pay or that his remarkable achievement will be recorded, acclaimed and preserved as a contribution to his skill and efficiency. But such characters, humble though they may be, are the salt of the earth. Williams has indicated his superiority as a skilled workman and thereby establishes a reputation which should inspire our workers in whatever line of work engaged in to do their best to excel."

E. church, was named defendant in the suit for the highest amount—$3,840, the assessment being levied on 192 shares of stock. Tally R. ## OWENS NOT OVERCONFIDENT

Jesse Owens is a fine boy. We might further state that he has proved himself one of the greatest athletes and Olympians of all time. So frequently in telling the story of a personality that is outstanding the remark is made, can be properly made that he is a story that might be common to you or to me.

This is not the case with Owens. His is a story in which courage, capacity, training and willingness to take orders figure highly. He has become the fastest human in the world and as far as can be proved any incidental places. He has worked hard at this job of becoming the best; he has been serious about it, as serious about his running as he has been about receiving a collegiate training.

At some time or other he may have been overconfident, but that time or those times must have been on his vacations from competition. Owens has gone out to win and few are the times and few are the sprinters who have made his "an also ran." Good Brother Owens has the peculiar habit of wanting to "get there first." He has scaled more sprint heights than several athletes combined. But he still has remained sane and firmly rooted into the ground. So much so that his first transatlantic speaking message was to his mother and his wife.

Although married for some time, no one has attributed the speed of his flying feet to the magic of marriage—or, for that matter, to the evils of marriage, whatever they may be. At the risk of being heretical, the following answer is made: to that kind of trip, the good Brother Owens did not carry more than the required amount of confidence, he worked hard. The whole thing is very simple: knowing that others were in the competition, and that they were mean enough to want to beat him, he left the starting point in the greatest possible hurry and added speed as he went along, always bearing in mind that he had to get there first.

Owens has been a fine American representative; he is one example of the true American tradition, and so in lesser measure are the other lads who have played at the sport of the gods.

NO SANTA CLAUS; NO RACE SUPERIORITY

A racial superiority phobia is not a luxury, not a fact. To those who for lack of intelligence, work to do, or for any of various reasons imaginable take the time to whip themselves into a frenzy of self-deception and revel in the stated inferiority of the human beings of this planet, to those, go the lesson demonstrated for all the world to see, the lesson of the Olympics.

In the most exacting crucibles to be found—that of sports and sportsmanship—the various athletes settled beyond any little reasonable show of doubt the question of Nordic supremacy as mouthed by Mussolini and hollered from every housetop by that mountebank of mountebanks, Herr Hitler. And their arguments were effectively conducted without benefit of bands, storm troops, book burnings, armored lorries, bombers, or mustard gas. Strangely enough, when the dust of the trials cleared and the results were announced none were more surprised than the advocates of Aryanism. The athletes who underwent the grueling test had no banners to bear but the one of sportsmanship; they were singularly disinterested in being, remaining, becoming pure anything—except "pure in heart" out there in the competition, and that is where it counts.

That Mein Herr Hitler, former Austrian housepainter, did or did not snub Jesse Owens, for that matter, any athlete is a matter of inconsequential concern. They were playing at the game of sports in a sane and constructive fashion. As for Der Herr, he has played games, games of international import with other statesmen, and it is yet to be established that he has approached his endeavors with any sporting element faintly coloring his deals. To the contrary, lies, chicanery, liberally mixed with a strong show of insanity have unfailingly characterized his behaviour. That he is willing, even eager it appears, to throw millions of people into the horrors of another war is a story old from many tellings. The athletes rather have looked towards a greater fraternity, a further breaking down of racial barriers. They have acted, and doubtless many have felt themselves ambassadors through the medium of sports bringing newer, friendlier harmony for the world. Jesse Owens, as will many others, will be an idol beloved, and running, when Hitler, and his ilk, are painting houses in Russia—or, at the rate things now are going—painting houses FOR RUSSIA.

ABOUT JOBS

Holding a job, is a mighty big job within itself. There has been little lessening of the economic strain which has done so much to rob colored people of gainful employment. The places that were once given in disdain to members of this group are now being snatched, and the competition has grown to a savagery the like of which it is hard to picture as reality. The fields are open, wide open, the barriers are down; there no longer are exclusive menial positions which are degrading to the dear white brother to hold and thereby earn some daily bread.

It is very necessary, facing raised food prices because of drought, a slowly expanding labor market, failure of every man to become a king with five thousand dollars—or whatever that gag was, it is very necessary to hold onto those jobs which are now in the hands of a woefully small number of toilers. Too many are the whites who have stepped into places in the stead of colored workmen to find that they have not become fatally ill because of the indifferent dignity of the jobs.

Then there is the matter of making new avenues through which fortune and if desired fame may be wooed. If the old places are taken new ones must be made. How? That is a question the answer to which each job-seeker, job-holder, and potential job-holder must exhaust peculiar to his own needs commensurate with his desire to earn and enjoy the most of the best. In the creation of new fields of endeavor, if such be done, several things suggest themselves as being worthy of consideration as bases. They are courtesy, efficiency, and remaining solidly on the ground, that is to say, that no untoward and unconfined growth of the head shall be allowed to exist.

Holding a job, creating a job—these are things worthy of the most sober consideration in these days of economic uncertainty, and as winter grows closer.

JUDGE LYNCH PRESIDING

Pennsylvanians are in arms and excited over impeachment proceedings instituted against Judge B. C. Atlee, who, according to credible witnesses, told a prisoner that his lynching would have been justifiable. The jurist is accused of remarking upon the heinousness of a sex crime to which a colored prisoner confessed, and stating that the often-practiced Southern custom would have been highly desirable.

While there were those to accuse him, others, who probably fear political repercussions, promptly forgot what the judge said. Impeachment proceedings were brought by two Negro legislators, who were quick to sense the impropriety and danger of such remarks.

Over in Brooklyn recently Magistrate James A. Blanchfield took it upon himself to ask two Negro youths accused of annoying a white girl what would have been their fate in Georgia after such an accusation. The boys replied that they would be lynched. The court then said that they would not be lynched, but would get time to think the matter over in jail.

Whether the Pennsylvania judge loses the post or not, he is certain to be more discreet in the future. We suggest that Chief Magistrate Schurman and Mayor LaGuardia pass a gentle reminder on to Magistrate Blanchfield for his improper but less dangerous method of dealing with a case of simple disorderly conduct.

DON'T QUIT THE FIGHT

Negroes must not accept Italian occupation of a large section of Ethiopia as a complete conquest. News dispatches indicate that the Ethiopians still have a semblance of government, and are particularly active during the raining season in harassing the Fascist forces and making life miserable for them.

At no time while there remains the slightest hope of complete re-establishment of the Ethiopian empire must Negroes in the United States and elsewhere cease their vigilance and willingness to help Haile Selassie's tragic kingdom.

While Germany has announced that she has not recognized the Italian conquest, there is plenty of evidence to show that most European nations are looking forward when they can extend recognition with the least embarrassment. That goes for Great Britain, France, and the lesser powers.

It is our duty to let President Roosevelt and the State Department know that Negroes will look with strong disfavor against American recognition of Italy's gobble of an inoffensive and peaceful people.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

CHRISTIANITY AND RACES

Editor Indianapolis Recorder:

The Roosevelt—McNutt—New Deal Democrats are applying the principles of Christianity to the racial problems of America. Thus through the New Deal Democrats the American Negro has the chance to come into his own.

Let it be remembered that President Roosevelt's determination to grant justice to the colored people will cost him thousands of votes in the "Solid South." Many white people of the South hate President Roosevelt because of his pro-Negro attitude.

This is what we would expect of the white landowners and other wealthy property holders in the land of Simon Legree. The old aristocracy, in all its pride and selfishness, hates Roosevelt.

The ambition of Roosevelt's enemies in the South is to keep the Negro from voting; to keep him in ignorance so that he will be easy to exploit. The enlightened Negro of the North will welcome an opportunity to help his Southern Brother who has never learned to read and write and vote.

To the educated Negro of the North, it must be clear that it is his privilege to do all within his power to re-elect President Roosevelt. It will be a tragedy, indeed, if Gov. Landon is elected in November. For one thing it would end WPA which has been such a great blessing to American Negroes.

There are millions of Christian white people of the North who stand shoulder to shoulder with President Roosevelt, wishing to see all the principles of Christianity applied to the Negro problems. Sunday at a young people's meeting in Robert Park Methodist church, the speaker was justly deploring the inconsistency of white Christians in their attitude toward their colored Brother. The zeal and honesty of this leader reveals the white Christian at his best.

No person can be an informed Christian and not be moved by the Christianity in President Roosevelt's acceptance sermon. In fact no man nor woman can be an enlightened Christian and vote in favor of Gov. Landon and against President Roosevelt.

This is not an effort to prove that all Democrats are saints. Except for the spirit and liberalism of Roosevelt, Democrats are not much better than are Republicans. If we wish to see what Democrats are without the religion of Roosevelt, we can look at the Old Deal Democrats who are fighting him.

We will not forget that President Roosevelt has done more than any other man since Lincoln for the Negro. By his side we will march forward with the belief that our Lord's prayer has not been prayed in vain. We will not look back. With him, we are looking for something finer, higher, and better. And we will work night and day to teach our brothers, who are like Jerusalem of Old—who know not the time of their visitation nor the things that befall unto their peace.

HIRAM LACKEY.

Editor Indianapolis Recorder:

"Be not afraid of greatness: some are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon them." This profound quotation from Shakespeare was very well illustrated in a drawing recently published. It appeared that early Rome was born great since she made her conquest until most of her victims slept; Great Britain knowing that life was a game, fastened a ring in the world's nose and achieved world power; and largely due to existing circumstances in this 20th century, greatness was thrust upon Uncle Sam as he held a sign of isolation.

The possible or practical essence of this illustration may aid the Negro in his supreme struggle to emancipate himself from his economic and social slavery. Unfortunately he was born in a worse predicament than he is now in. He must not expect any person or nation to thrust that emancipation—as was the first one—upon him.

Yet there remains the John Bull method of achievement which means to bring to a successful issue by strenuous efforts. Little may actually be gained by aggressiveness, moreover, it is wisely said that liberty is not given but taken. Righteous and intelligent approach will inevitably prevail in the end.

May the Negro see and do the right, demand the right, and intrepidly object to the presentation to him any legal instrument as a camouflage of freedom and justice. Be eager for achievement, and be not afraid!

JOHN L. MATTOCKS.

COLORED VOTES SWINGING TO G. O. P.

To Editor, The Indianapolis Recorder:

Political observers are asking themselves "What is responsible for the drift of the Negro vote from the Democratic Party to the Republican in the County and State?"

The reason for the question seems to be the large number of Negro Democrats who joined the caravan to Connersville all seem to agree that the Republicans have platform than the Democrats.

A Democrat who is making a survey of Negro political opinion told a group recently that 20 per cent of colored Democrats who voted in the primary will vote Republican in the fall whereas 15 per cent of those who voted for Roosevelt in 1932, and took no part in the primary will vote for Landon, at least three outstanding colored Democratic speakers are expected to take the stump for the Republicans.

What are the underlying causes of this definite loss to the Democratic party?

Interested Colored Voter.

THE RIVER OF LIFE

(By Thomas Campbell)

The more we live, more brief appear
Our life's succeeding stages:
A day to childhood seems a year,
And years like passing ages.

The gladness current of our youth
Ere passion yet disorders,
Steals lingering life a river smooth
Along its grassy borders.

But as the care-worn cheek grows wan,
And sorrow's shafts fly thicker,
Ye Stars, that measure life to man,
Why seem our courses quicker?

When joys have lost their bloom
And life itself is vapid,
Why, as we reach the Falls of Death,
Feel we its tide more rapid?

It may be strange—yet who would change
Time's course to slower speed—
When one by one our friends have gone
And left our bosoms bleeding?

Heaven gives our years of fading strength
Indemnifying fleetness;
And those of youth, a seeming length,
Proportion'd to their sweetness.

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

It's doing your job the best you can
And it's being just to your fellow-men;

It's making money—but holding friends,
And staying true to your aims and ends.

It's figuring how and learning why,
And looking forward, and thinking high.

And dreaming a little and doing much:
It's keeping always in closest touch
With what is finest in word and deed;

It's being thorough, yet making speed

It's darning blithely the field of chance

While making labor a braver romance
It's going onward despite defeat.

And fighting staunchly, but keeping sweet;
It's laughing lightly at Dame Despair;

It's looking up at the stars above,
And drinking deeply of life and love;

It's struggling on with the will to win,
But taking loss with a cheerful grin;

It's sharing sorrow and work and mirth,
And making better this good old earth;

It's serving, striving through strain and stress,
It's doing your noblest—That's Success!

THE WORLD IN REVIEW

(By Frank Marshall Davis for ANP)

FASCISM vs. COMMUNISM CLEARLY OUTLINED

Negro victories in the Olympic games at Berlin, to which the entire race may point with pride, bring forcibly home the advantages of Communism over Fascism should the Negro ever be forced to make a choice, and further emphasize the significance of black folk of the Spanish rebellion.

Both Germany and Italy are Fascist nations. Hitler, high mogul of Naziland, preaches racial intolerance and at the world's carnival of sports in Berlin, set an example to the populace by steadied snubs to brown boys who proved themselves the world's best athletes.

Mussolini, previously, marched into Ethiopia. At home he preached a doctrine of racial hatred during the campaign and has set up a dual standard over the conquered natives far more vicious than that existing in any part of the most backward South.

Prior to the ascension to power of these two high priests of Fascism, before official Germany and Italy were noted for their comparative lack of prejudice toward people of color.

Contrast these attitudes with that of Red Russia. There the Negro is received with open arms and welcomes to the innermost councils of the party. Communism officially preaches a doctrine of solidarity and unity between the common people without thought of race.

Meanwhile Spain is in the throes of a bloody revolution with the issue of that of Communism versus Fascism. A rebel victory means another powerful Fascist state with another victory for this social order, the greater influence of Fascism on world politics, and the eventual conversion of still more nations. A loyalist win in Spain furthers Communism with the possibility of similar results. Although Negroes are thousands of miles away inside a democracy, because of the interrelationship of nations they will eventually be affected by the dominance of Fascism or Communism. The results of any such conflict are of vital importance to Aframerica.

"PURPLE PIRATE"

By Talbot Mundy

Talbot Mundy has here woven a stalwart tale of adventure and romance about the toweling figure of Tros of Samothrace. This widely popular hero finds himself in the ruthless struggle for world domination by Mark Antony, Brutus, and Cassius, and Octavius in the period following the death of Julius Caesar. Against a marvelous background of those years Tros faces life with the strength of his earlier epic struggle against Caesar. Now he wants to sail around the world in his great galleys, but Cleopatra, on her Egyptian throne, tries every means to thwart his plans and to have him for her lover. Thus into the world of warfare and deeds of prowess creeps the note of passion and the anger of a woman scorned, as Tros passes Cleopatra by and falls in love with her younger sister, Arsinoe, who plays a great part in the thrilling events with which "Purple Pirate" is packed.

The struggle for world power between the East and West, those momentous years is shown through Tros and his deeds. Fighting pirates, battling beneath the pyramids, thwarting plots and conspiracies in old corrupt Egypt, matching wits against the wiles of Cleopatra and the schemes of Cassius, Tros' fortunes sweep onward amid the storms of battle and the glorious pageantry of the Roman civilization.

Not a war novel, except as the war affected the lives of the people of the South, the story of Scarlett is written with a rare sensitiveness and skill.

The author is descended from people who have loved and fought for Georgia since the Revolutionary War. She was born and raised in Atlanta and was for several years a feature writer on the Atlanta Journal.

Scarlett's friend, Melanie Wilkes, of finer fibre, meets the same hardships with equal courage and better grace. Scarlett uses any available weapon; Melanie refuses to break with her ideals. Side by side with Scarlett and Melanie are the two men who love them: Ashley Wilkes, for whom the world died at Appomattox, and Rhett Butler, blockade runner and charming scoundrel, who is drawn to Scarlett because she is as unscrupulous as he.

The story epitomizes the whole drama of the South under the impact of the war and its aftermath. The ruggedness and strength of North Georgia's red hills are in the characters—bluff, blistering Gerald O'Hara; Ellen, his wife; Mammy, who both loved and chastened Ellen's daughters; the rollicking Tarleton twins; the quick-tempered and murderous Fon taines; stately John Wilkes, and a host of others, white and black, forming a rich picture of Southern life.

"GONE WITH THE WIND"

By Margaret Mitchell

The stirring drama of the Civil War and reconstruction is brought vividly to life in this really magnificent novel. Scarlett O'Hara, born of a gently bred mother from the feudal aristocracy of the Georgia coast and an Irish peasant father, inherited charm from the one and from the other the determination and drive that enabled her to survive the wreckage of war. As the bells of the coming century, spoiled, selfish, Scarlett arrives at young womanhood just in time to see the Civil War sweep away the life for which her upbringing had prepared her. After the fall of Atlanta she returns to the plantation and by stubborn shrewdness saves her home both from starvation and the marauding hordes. But in the process she hardens and she vows never to be hungry again. In the turmoil of reconstruction she battles her way to affluence.

Scarlett's friend, Melanie Wilkes, of finer fibre, meets the same hardships with equal courage and better grace. Scarlett uses any available weapon; Melanie refuses to break with her ideals. INTERNATIONALLY KNOWN MENTALIST

B. N. F.—Can you tell me what the future holds for me?
Ans.: In your future years, you'll follow a musical career which will be a success. Your career was halted by the death of your mother, but you'll have another chance to follow up this line of work.

R. D.—I would like to know if the man I am going to with will marry me?
Ans.: NO—This man is more interested in his school girl sweetheart than he is in you. This man is far too fickle for you to ever be happy with. You should look around for someone more your type.

J. L. M.—Will this lady stay in the city long?
Ans.: This lady you have become so attached to would like to remain in the city, but it all depends on her husband. If his business venture turns out such, she is planning to make her home there permanently. You'll find her to always be a good neighbor.

M. P. R.—Why is it that my husband went to a friend of ours and asked him to get a lawyer for him?
Ans.: Your husband is planning to sue the people he works for, for failing to pay him his salary the past three months. You and your husband are separated now and you have no right to interfere with his business. You should leave him alone and stop trying to make him tell you about his affairs.

M. G.—I would like to know if this party means me as much good as my husband does? Should I go back to my husband?
Ans.: Neither of these men are seriously interested in you. You would be much better off if you were to leave them both along for good.

S. L. J.—Should I go ahead with my divorce?
Ans.: Certainly—If your husband cared anything at all about you he would let you know where he is.

You'll be very happy after you are married to the man you are in love with now.

A. J.—Will you please tell me if this fellow is going to try to get in touch with me again?
Ans.: The fellow with the initials of F. J. appears to be going with the girl across the street from you. You'll meet again however and before long, you'll find he'll be spending more time with you than he does with her. It'll be easy for you to beat her time.

A. H.—Will my husband get this job that he has promised to him?
Ans.: The man who promised your husband a job isn't a man who will go back on his word. You can rest assured your husband will get the job. The salary he is to receive hasn't been mentioned yet so don't be surprised when you see his first pay check. You must keep in mind however that he'll have a chance to more than double his salary the first year.

C. M. L.—What are my boy friend's intentions?
Ans.: Your boy friend seems to be very angry at you but he'll get over it. You told him the truth about himself and it hurt. He intends to go away now and try to make a living for himself and stop living off of others.

B. J.—Will my courtship go on like this forever?
Ans.: Your courtship will be broken up with your man friend the latter part of this summer. You will at that time take a trip for your health and he will become interested in someone else while you are away.

V. E. C.—Will I have success in my love affairs?
Ans.: At the rate you are going you'll never be very popular and you will have very little success in any of your love affairs if you don't change your attitude toward the opposite sex. I suggest that you see note attached to this column and write to me for a private reply.

WESTERN PICKERS FIND TOUGH PICKING FOR OWN TEAM; EAST HAS EASY GOING ON CHOICES

CHICAGO, August 15.—Just eight more days hence and the greatest baseball players in the country will take the mound in Comiskey Field to battle for sectional honors; that day, August 23, stars who will be announced for action on East or West teams will enter the fourth annual classic.

This year will be a tough one for the picking of the West nine since so many of the players will be new to the game, and only a handful of veterans remaining in this section. The West is decidedly the underdog in the game. The East will line up solidly behind the great "Satchel" Paige, Oscar Charleston, Josh Gibson, and many other celebrities of the game in an effort to gain a two and two tie in the standings for the four years of play.

SIXTEEN STARS FOR EACH OF THE ALL STAR TEAM WILL BE ANNOUNCED; POLL NEARS END

CHICAGO, August 15.—When the fourth annual East-West all-star baseball game is played at Comiskey Park on Sunday afternoon, August 23, each of the teams will be limited to sixteen players. This means there will be four pitchers, two catchers, five infielders, and five outfielders on each squad.

The poll being conducted by newspapers of the nation, and the various teams participating, to determine the makeup of the east and west teams, is swinging into its final week with fans of the country expressing a preference for six players who have seen service in the three previous games, of which the west has won two.

The veteran, Oscar Charleston, of the Pittsburgh Crawfords, has two chances to win his fourth successive all-star service stripe, for he is leading the east's first baseman vote, and is topping Jim Taylor, of the Washington Elites, in the balloting to name the all-star managers.

Others high up in the voting who have played in previous all-star games are center-fielder Bell of the Pittsburgh Crawfords, two teammates, right-fielder Crutch-field and catcher Gibson, and two members of the Chicago American Giants, pitcher Trent, and third baseman Radcliffe.

This year the east seems to have a larger field of stars from which to fashion a formidable team. To counteract this edge, western fans have been picking players noted for their team play. With a staff of strong pitchers, followers of the Chicago American Giants, St. Louis Stars, Cincinnati Tigers and Kansas City Monarchs, believe that the west can produce a team that will make it three out of four over the east.

Previous all-star games have been attended by large crowds, and were marked by exciting battles. In 1933 the west slugged out a 7 to 4 victory and the next season the east evened it, 1 to 0, largely through the stellar hurling of Satchel Paige. Last August a home run in the eleventh inning gave the west a 11 to 8 decision.

The poll will close at midnight, August 15. Leaders are:

EAST
FIRST BASE — Charleston, Pittsburgh, 3,912; West, Washington Elites, 3,347.
SECOND BASE — Hughes, Washington Elites, 4,105; Seay, Pittsburgh, 3,011.

SHORTSTOP — C. Williams, Pittsburgh, 3,517; Snow, Washington Elites, 2,820.
CENTER FIELD — Bell, Pittsburgh, 5,273; Curry, Washington Elites, 1,981.

RIGHT FIELD — Z. Wright, Washington Elites, 3,729; Crutchfield, Pittsburgh, 3,530.
CATCHERS — Gibson, Pittsburgh, 5,087; Mackey, Washington Elites, 1,981.

Jack Johnson Says Sharkey Will Win

ORANBURG, N. Y., Aug. 15 (ANP)—Jack Johnson, who has been quite open in his criticisms of Joe Louis, Saturday picked Jack Sharkey as a winner over the Brown Bomber after watching the Bostonian step through an impressive 50 minute workout under a blazing sun in preparation for the bout in New York on Aug. 18.

"Sharkey looks very good. He should beat Louis," said the former heavyweight champion. "Sharkey is faster and knows how to use both hands. Louis is a sucker for a right hand punch and after they are through teaching him how to avoid a right he will be a sucker for something else."

Many of the players were forced to play extra sets before the stubborn "Cleaners" were turned back; it doubles competition, the winners made a clean sweep to wind up play.

Negro Olympians Make Many Over European Countries During Games

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—(ANP)—All Europe has acknowledged the greatness of the Negro winners of the American Olympic team. To date only the Nazi newspaper Angriff has spoken in what might be called a disparaging way and only in the official box of Hitler has there been displayed racial prejudice.

Various countries, however, have reacted in different ways. France

Chronological Review Of Sensational Rise Of Owens

(By LEON LEWIS For ANP)

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15.—Jesse Owens, the most recent track or sprint sensation making and breaking records held by invincibles over a period of years, was born on an Alabama farm, one of eight children, to sharecropper parents. He was raised in the abject poverty of southern tenant agriculture.

The Owens family migrated to Cleveland in the industrial trek of the war years and Jesse became one of the thousands of children in the congested eastside. In time he reached Palmyra Junior high school, where teaches Charles Riley, one time athlete and volunteer coach of schoolboy runners.

Building a boys' track team, Riley met Jesse, timed him in a sprint down East 107th street, was startled, and immediately dedicated himself to hunting that coach's will-of-the-wisp, the perfect sprinter. Riley learned all about the boy, took him under his wing, walked with him in the parks, talked to him about the things for more important than racing; about life, perfection, one hundred percent mental as well as physical fitness. On some days school training was merely a lecture, in terms understood by a bright boy, on philosophy. So Jesse came to be not only a great but an understanding track athlete. He was passed along to a high school coach with experience and feeling similar to Riley's, Ed Wohl, of East Tech., and when he was ready for college Ohio State's staff was ready and eager for him.

The Olympics of 1936 became the goal five years ago. All along the line Jesse was constantly held back a little to prevent spoiling the ripening of a great athlete. Now the ripening is a burst of glory.

EL AMIGO'S WIDEN VICTORY MARGIN ON CLAY; GIRLS TO PLAY SUNDAY

Sharkey Confident That He'll Win

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(ANP)—Jack Sharkey, the Garrulous Gobbler who recently returned to heavy weight competition, stated Tuesday he believed he would "win easily" after meeting Joe Louis for the first time as boxing physicians declared them fit for their 16-round bout Aug. 18 at Yankee stadium.

"Although I expect to win easily, I'm not kidding myself into believing I can score a knockout," Sharkey said. "I never could hit hard enough to bust an egg with an ax, and I don't expect to bring Louis down."

The Brown Bomber will have a distinct advantage at the coming bout. Protests have brought about a new ruling by the commission permitting four feet of tape on each hand instead of two, in addition to six feet of gauze. Louis had protested because former arrangements did not afford enough protection for his large hands.

MOTHER DISAPPOINTED

DETROIT, Aug. 15.—(ANP)—Plainly disappointed because her son, Howell King, well known amateur pugilist, was eliminated from competition in the Olympic games at Berlin, Mrs. D. Hardeman anxiously awaits his arrival home this week from Germany. "Home-sick," is the reported reason for the American Olympic committee's action in barring him and a white teammate, from competition.

Godfrey Criticizes Louis' Footwork

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(ANP)—Feab Smith Williams, better known to the world as George Godfrey, has followed the lead of Jack Johnson in pointing out what he considers certain fundamental weaknesses in the Joe Louis fighting form. George, however, made the same criticisms before the Schmeling fight.

"He stands with his legs cocked," he told the Washingtonians last week. "That makes him a sucker for a right because he can't get away when he misses. His feet get all tangled up with other."

Reports Louis And Al Ettore Matched

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—(ANP)—A fight between Joe Louis and Al Ettore, three-time conqueror of Leroy Haynes, has been tentatively set for September 15 in this city, according to information received here.

The promoters, Taylor and Gunnis, of this city, believe the bout will gross $200,000 because of the popularity of Ettore in this, his home town. Many sports enthusiasts, while conceding Louis a victory over old Jack Sharkey in New York on August 18, believe Ettore will hand Joe the second beating of his professional career.

Ettore is managed by Tender, once a leading lightweight, who has done much to develop his charge's boxing skill. Al, however, is primarily a fighter instead of a boxer and wades in constantly, firing continuously with both hands.

Olympic Star Not To Turn Pro Yet

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—(ANP)—Besieged by lucrative offers from American professional sports promoters since his triple win at the 1936 Olympics, Jesse Owens Thursday flatly turned all of them down.

"I wouldn't think of turning professional now," he said. "I still have another year to finish at Ohio State and I certainly wouldn't think of becoming a paid athlete until I graduate."

"Actually, I honestly believe I'll hang up my spikes as soon as I get a degree. I plan to go directly into the insurance business, which I am studying in college." Taking time out from a modest acceptance of congratulatory telegrams, the Buckeye Bullet also expressed regret that he would not anchor America's 400 meter relay team.

"I'm just getting set and the feel of the track," he said. "I was never in better condition and would like to keep on competing."

Coach Lawson Robertson, however, vetoed the idea saying he wanted to give some of the other boys a chance. Owens will compete in several European meets before returning to America around September 9.

Sharkey Confident That He'll Win

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(ANP)—Jack Sharkey, the Garrulous Gobbler who recently returned to heavy weight competition, stated Tuesday he believed he would "win easily" after meeting Joe Louis for the first time as boxing physicians declared them fit for their 16-round bout Aug. 18 at Yankee stadium.

"Although I expect to win easily, I'm not kidding myself into believing I can score a knockout," Sharkey said. "I never could hit hard enough to bust an egg with an ax, and I don't expect to bring Louis down."

The Brown Bomber will have a distinct advantage at the coming bout. Protests have brought about a new ruling by the commission permitting four feet of tape on each hand instead of two, in addition to six feet of gauze. Louis had protested because former arrangements did not afford enough protection for his large hands.

MOTHER DISAPPOINTED

DETROIT, Aug. 15.—(ANP)—Plainly disappointed because her son, Howell King, well known amateur pugilist, was eliminated from competition in the Olympic games at Berlin, Mrs. D. Hardeman anxiously awaits his arrival home this week from Germany. "Home-sick," is the reported reason for the American Olympic committee's action in barring him and a white teammate, from competition.

pic stars performed before 50,000 persons at Cleveland Stadium. Jesse raced around the stadium track in 9.6 seconds to beat Eerie Brockmeyer, of Germany, and Gabrielle Salvati, of Italy, both of whom had competed in the Olympic games at Los Angeles.

May 19—1933—Astounding the track world, Owens broke the first state scholastic meet at Columbus set a new all-time scholastic broad jump record of 22 feet 3 7/8 inches, finished second in the 200-yard dash and fourth in the 100-yard dash.

JOE LOUIS READY FOR TEST IN RING AGAINST JACK SHARKEY; SLIGHT ODDS FAVOR BOMBER

NEW YORK CITY, Aug. 15.—(ANP)—Quietly, without any ballyhoo, Joe Louis is working diligently at his Pompton Lakes camp for his setto with loquacious Jack Sharkey on August 18. Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, regarded as one of the masters of the ring when he was fighting, was inspired to go down and buy a round or two with the youngster last week and what Jack got is one for the book. Of course, Jack, now in his fifties, didn't intend to let Joe sock him properly, he just wanted to try Joe out. He did. And after worrying Joe with plenty of peppery socks, Jack grew bolder and told Joe he was no sissy and to wade right in. This was all Joe wanted. He waded in and after smacking Jack a couple, Jack was glad the bell ended the session.

To date, Joe is punching his partners viciously. He is not pulling his blows at all and is making life unbearable for those who believe they want to try their luck with the Bomber at $15 per day.

But Blackburn is not satisfied with Joe doing so much boxing. Rope skipping, bag punching, and road work are a very heavy part of the program nowadays, compared to a complete lack of this branch of the training down at the camp when he worked for a go with Schmeling.

Billed as "an acid test for Joe Louis," this fight with Sharkey is going to decide one or two things. Sharkey is dangerous even at his age and in his condition—and if he has one of his good nights, Joe is in for a thorough going over. Already Jack is believing that he has the Indian sign on Louis.

"When I shook hands with him at the Boxing Commission office," said the Gob, "I gave him hand a little extra pressure and I felt him wince. I knew from that moment I had him."

"But Sharkey's own experiences should teach him that handshakes do not win fights. And Louis, determined to regain his prestige after the let down of the last battle, is not unmindful of the importance of this fight. Joe believes he will be a better fighter for this battle as a result of what he learned from the Schmeling battle. There is a hint of grimness about him that was never in evidence before."

"Joe's mind is now set like granite," said a member of his training staff, "and he don't mean to let anything stand in the way of his getting where those who believe in him feel that he belongs as a fighting man."

SHOOTING THE WORKS

LEE A. JOHNSON

OFF TO TENNIS WARS

Our boys and girls are packing their thimble to start their trek towards the campus of Wilberforce university in an attempt to finish their clay court wits against those of representatives of other cities in hopes of bringing back home some national honors.

Your scribe knows just what these folk will go up against, having been subjected to the punishment on a number of similar occasions. To appreciate their going, you fans should pay their expenses and give them a bigger boost; but since they may go wholly on their own, you should come out to the courts Sunday afternoon and see our girls play, and wish them luck next week.

THE BIG GAME IS ON

It is the fourth annual East versus West baseball classic at the same old place in the same "Windy City. Chicago will be all aglow with enthusiasm with all portals of entertainment thrown open to take care of the hosts of sports followers.

Your scribe hopes that the names of all local persons will be in print as witnesses of the game. We want to know everyone of you who take in the game.

THE WELCOME HOME

When our ebony school athletes who represented Uncle Sam "over there" in the games of the eleventh Olympiad reach of the ports of the United States, there should be a universal whistle tooting of welcome for the valiant way they carried on. Think of it, they contributed half of the gold medals that will come ashore as emblems of first honors earned; these honors mean the best on earth in these branches of sports.

JOE LOUIS IS PICKED THIS TIME

Don't waste your money betting on Sharkey; if you're wise, you'll split it and bet both ways; the best you can do is break even, but Louis is a three-round clinch to win.

THEATRICAL WHIRL-A-GIG

BY J. SAINT CLAIR GIBSON

ABOARD REPUBLICAN SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO CONNERSVILLE, Ind., Sat., Aug. 8.—Leaving our local Union Station several minutes past 2 p. m., we were headed for Connersville, Ind., among a group of loyal Republicans, estimated at 1,171 ladies and gentlemen, all shades and nationalities, our hearts all set for the festivities of the day, which incidentally was the notification ceremonies of Hon. Raymond S. Springer, gubernatorial candidate on the Republican ticket of the great Hoosier state. All eyes and ears were set for the highlights of the occasion, which included a speech by the nominee and our Republican vice presidential candidate, Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher. Traveling through Southern Indiana we had time to reflect upon the ravages wrought by the drought in this part of the state after casting our optics at intervals a the hip-tall corn and cut wheat which seemingly had been spared by Mother Nature in her onslaught upon the farmers' bread and meat ticket. This of course was done in between snatches on conversation with our editor, Clarence Scott, and another passenger of Afro-American extraction ament the coming victory so openly predicted by thousands of loyal Republicans ... FUN GALORE ...

Aboard the special were numerous entertainers provided for the pleasure of those who were bored by the tiresome ride in 15 stuffy coaches, minus an air-conditional system ... ## FOOD FOR THOUGHT

NOTE: The purpose of this series is to stimulate thought on subjects that concern Negroes. The author is a staff secretary of the Service Bureau for Education in Human Relations.

1. No. During colonial times free Negroes voted in all the colonies except Georgia, South Carolina and Virginia. Later the practice varied from state to state and time to time: Negroes voted in Louisiana until 1812; North Carolina, 1835; Kansas, 1836; Arkansas, 1836; Texas, 1845. In Rhode Island they voted, were disfranchised, and then given the vote again in 1842. In the other New England States and in New York they voted, subject to the same qualifications as other citizens.

2. Yes, historians give this as an important factor in the slowing down of the development of that continent. Some of the native governments had already been weakened by internal wars. Then for four hundred years the slave-trade interfered with any chance of recovery. The slaves deliberately stipulated wars so that there would be more captives to be procured as slaves. In addition the loss of the millions of inhabitants taken as slaves accounted for much of the stagnation of African culture and civilization.

3. Some people argue that since Negro employers are struggling to build up "race business" they should not be forced to compete with white employers for labor. But most of the Negro firms which employ a large number of workers are not in competition with white firms. The idea seems to be gaining more and more support that the only friend of the working man, whether Negro or white, is the strength that comes from organization.

PASTOR FLAYS VICIOUS MORALS

undermining modern morals and menacing the future of the whole social order.

"Adam and Eve Freakish"
"The act of Eve and Adam which disgusted divine modesty, smashed the law of perpetuating life and brought down condemnation upon the human family was an abnormal relationship, the cause of which may be traced to an over abundance of sex powers with which this world with its countless millions was started.

"It was this unquenchable flame in the body of the first woman which the devil took advantage of through the nature of the serpent
